FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA
CINMAL

Transmitted herewith are ten copies of LHM dated and captioned as above.

(identity concealed at his request.)

He appeared to be of above-average intelligence and much more knowledgeable than the vast majority of refugees coming out of Cuba today. The information concerning the printing of the speeches of FIDEL CASTRO in two volumes, the analysis of the speeches by ERNESTO "CHE" GUEVARA, and his ordering the destruction of the second volume of speeches for being in direct contradiction of the first two years' speeches, are regarded as probably factual, and exceptionally newsworthy. For this reason, instant LHM is suggested for possible use by CINAL. The fact that workers now hire militiamen to stand their guard duty definitely suggests a cooling of the Cuban zeal for the revolution.

Employees and Leading Communists

[REDACTED] had to register for military service during the recent forced registration of all persons for possible draft. He stated that of about fifty employees working at the plant, seventeen belonged to the militia. Two of these seventeen were definitely against the government of FIDEL CASTRO.

b2

[REDACTED]
he stated everyone had to perform a tour of guard duty. The guard duty was from 6:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight, and the shift from 2:00 to 7:00 a.m. was always handled by regular militia. [REDACTED] stated that none of the regular employees performed guard duty, but hired a militiaman for $1.50 a night to take the place of the employee who was supposed to perform guard duty. He stated this was well known and recognized by the Communist leaders working at the plant, and he believed represents a relaxation or a loss of zeal and enthusiasm for the revolution, as this practice would not have been tolerated when guard duty was first organized, or even as late as mid-1963.

Re: FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

Each time there is a large national celebration, such as May Day, 26th of July, or any other special occasion where FIDEL CASTRO is supposed to speak, each company or business establishment is assigned a quota of workers which they are supposed to produce at the rally. [REDACTED] 127-1921

[REDACTED] stated that while this individual is an enthusiastic Communist and CASTRO supporter, he is just the opposite of [REDACTED]. The latter is quite well-educated, suave, and, at least in the presence of government leaders and superiors, diplomatic. [REDACTED] is of the very low quarter of uneducated, blunt, rough-talking individuals, a militia man, and enthusiastic leader of his section in PURS (Partido Unido de la Revolucion Socialista) (United Party of the Socialist Revolution) (Cuban Communist Party.) [REDACTED] b2 b7D b7C

Speeches of FIDEL CASTRO

[REDACTED] stated that the enthusiastic CASTRO leaders decided to print all of the speeches of FIDEL CASTRO in book form, consisting of two volumes. These books would be given to visiting students and dignitaries in Cuba from all the other countries of Latin America. The books would be sold in Cuba, and exported for sale throughout the world at any place into which they could be imported. It was even planned to print the speeches in English and offer them for sale in the United States. b2 b7D

Re: FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

The first volume was printed and, in fact, the type was set and the second volume was being run off when ERNESTO "CHE" GUEVARA, high-ranking Cuban Government official, who was proofreading the two volumes, ordered the printing of the second volume stopped, and all copies destroyed.

Inconsistencies and Lies of FIDEL CASTRO

██████████ stated that GUEVARA declared there were patent inconsistencies and lies obvious to any reader in the second volume of the above-mentioned book. The variance between statement and theories of CASTRO as pronounced in the first volume, and those expressed in the second volume, would possibly subject FIDEL CASTRO and his regime to criticism. In the hands of counterpropagandists, these variances might even give rise to ridicule of the CASTRO regime.

██████████ recalled that one of the early famous statements of FIDEL CASTRO was "Armas, para que?" (Arms, for what?). This statement was made at a time when CASTRO was allegedly so interested in rebuilding Cuba that he had no need for arms. However, his armed intervention in Santo Domingo and Central America, and the fact that Cuba is "armed to the teeth" today, makes that statement appear rather ridiculous.

He further noted that CASTRO had declared that foreign investments would be very welcome in Cuba, and would be given full protection as long as the foreign investors only engaged in legitimate business, and not in politics. Now he has not only intervened or nationalized all foreign investments, but also has nationalized all Cuban companies and investments which are large enough to have any importance.

Also, in many of his now-famous speeches, he emphasized that there was complete freedom of the press in Cuba, and there would be as long as he was prime minister. Freedom of the press in Cuba completely deteriorated by mid-1960, and all of the newspapers were nationalized by the government. Policy as to what could be printed was dictated by the government.

FIDEL CASTRO also had emphasized that there would be complete religious freedom and the church would never become the subject of any persecution by the CASTRO regime. However, it is now a well-known fact that priests and nuns, as well as many protestant ministers and leaders, had to flee Cuba for their lives and were unable to hold religious services which in any way were critical of Communism or of the Communist state.

It was also denied emphatically on many occasions by FIDEL CASTRO that his regime had even remote connections with Communism or Communist countries. He, of course, finally reversed himself, and after it was apparent to everyone that the CASTRO Government was Communist-dominated, he declared in one of his now-famous speeches that he not only was a Communist, but had been one and would be one to the day that he died.

[REDACTED] stated there were many other inconsistencies and the above is only a sample, and that as a matter of fact, practically everything said by FIDEL CASTRO in 1959 and 1960 had been denied or reversed in subsequent speeches.

[REDACTED] stated the ORI was the temporary political party used as a vehicle to integrate all parties in Cuba into the United Party of the Socialist Revolution, and its orders were supreme.

Committees of Defense

Source stated [REDACTED] the CDR (Committees of Defense of the Revolution), but he stated these committees are greatly expanded. There is one known as the "Responsible" (the one responsible.) He stated there is one member of the committee responsible for inventories, another for athletics and sporting events, another for distribution of ration cards and responsible for seeing that no one receives any items in excess of the quota allowed, as well as one responsible for so-called "culture" items. All are responsible for seeing to it that no one plots against the government, has any unauthorized meetings at his home, and that all physically able to do so attend government rallies.

Re: FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

Residence of RAUL CASTRO

[REDACTED]
of RAUL CASTRO, brother of FIDEL CASTRO, in Cuba. RAUL CASTRO lives on Calle 26 between Zapata and another street, name unrecalled, but La Torre Street runs right behind his house, and the section is known as Nuevo Vedado. There is always a military guard in front of the house, and anti-aircraft guns are mounted on the roof.

There are four or five floors in the building, and all are occupied by guards, escort, and dedicated loyal CASTRO supporters. The area around the house is known as a "zona congelada" (literally, frozen zone), which [REDACTED] stated means no one can move into the zone without first obtaining permission of the government. The area is occupied by Russians, or other Europeans, and government workers.

Mexican Companies in Cuba, and Treatment of Mexicans

[REDACTED] stated there are four companies owned by Mexicans in Cuba. One is the company making Mirrugia Perfumes; another is a Mexican movie company; another makes inks, and is known as Empresa Mexicana; the fourth is a leather shop owned by a Mexican woman. [REDACTED] stated she had a big fight in the open street recently with the Cuban G-2 and police. She was knocked down and dragged by the Cuban Police, and was the subject of an official protest by the Mexican Embassy.

Mexican Treatment of Anti-
CASTRO Cubans

[REDACTED] stated that the treatment accorded Cubans who desire to flee Cuba and who go to the Mexican Embassy or Consulate, is humiliating and degrading. He stated he had seen the Mexican Consul and assistants pushing Cuban women out into the street, including a pregnant Cuban woman. The Consul frequently calls the Cuban police to come and take any visa applicants that he finds unacceptable, if for any reason he wants to get rid of them. [REDACTED] stated that anyone with money is acceptable; if the applicant has no money, he is unacceptable. As in Mexico, money "fixes anything." He stated all the Mexicans assigned to the Consulate and Embassy in Cuba will do anything to defend their position and to continue maintaining relations with Cuba, as their positions were never previously so lucrative.

Re: FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

It is prohibited to line up directly in front of the Consulate; the front of the line must be as far back as the corner.

[REDACTED]

b2
b7C

[REDACTED] stated that Cubans and Mexicans were never very close friends, and the relations are so strained between the peoples of Mexico and Cuba, that if FIDEL CASTRO were to fall, he believes that Cubans would demand an immediate severance of relations with Mexico, which is constantly exploiting the present miserable state of the Cuban people in order to make money. He noted that from the flow of tourists to Mexico from the United States, from the increased purchase of sugar from Mexico by the United States, from the outrageous prices Mexicans can get from trading with CASTRO, and from the money charged to give them a visa to get out of Cuba, the Mexicans derive such advantages that they do not desire to break relations with CASTRO's Communist Government.

THE CUBAN SITUATION

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

On August 25, 1964, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past and who recently left Cuba, supplied the following comments:

He is of the opinion that there has been a considerable decrease in the number of Russian personnel in Cuba. He based this opinion on the following set of circumstances. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] This
bus passed by a hotel called the Rosita de Hornedo located at the corner of First Avenue and Zero Street in Miramar.
This apartment-type hotel has been used almost exclusively by the Cuban Government for the housing of Russian personnel.
Approximately a year ago at least twenty Russians boarded the bus on a daily basis when it stopped at the Rosita de Hornedo. In the recent past seldom more than two Russians boarded the bus on which the source was riding.

The source mentioned an incident which occurred six or eight months ago in Cuba in which there was a terrific explosion in a Russian installation located about ten kilometers south of the town of Pinar del Rio in the province of the same name. He described this installation as one in which Cubans were not permitted to enter. Subsequent to the explosion, according to information received by the source, a number of very long boxes were removed from the installation on large trucks driven by Russians dressed in tattered clothing. The source was unable to ascertain the final destination of these trucks and boxes, but stated they were taken to the vicinity of the town of Guane, Province of Pinar del Rio, in which area a number of large caves are located.

On August 26, 1964, a second confidential source, with whom sufficient contact has not been had to establish reliability, supplied the following information:

Up until the time he left Cuba [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] and the following information was submitted by him based on his observations made in the course of his travels.

Cuban and Russian Installations

Sometime around July or August, 1962, a number of large boxes, approximately sixty feet in length, were unloaded at the port of Nicaro, Oriente, and transported at night to a place called Micara, Oriente. The source said this is located in a zone called Las Calabazas and is more or less at the exact center of a triangle formed by the towns of Mayari, Alto Songo, and Guantanamo, all Oriente Province. According to the source, a number of large tunnels have been constructed in this area and are manned by Russian personnel. The source had been unable to ascertain that any of the large boxes had ever been removed from this area.

At a point called Las Mercedes, located near the town of Manzanillo, Oriente, and reached by a road which goes through the town of Yara, are a number of tunnels, construction of which was started even before FIDEL CASTRO came into power on January 1, 1959. About July, 1962, some large convoys, again carrying large boxes, were observed entering this area. Following the Cuban crisis in October, 1962, some smaller boxes were removed from this area, but to the best of the source's knowledge the large boxes have not been removed.

At a point called Los Negros, located about eighteen kilometers south of the town Baire, Oriente, are a number of natural caves. Immediately following the revolution, the CASTRO government started enlarging these caves, and they are now used as storage warehouses for food and armament. Small rockets are stored there, but source knew of no large boxes, such as those previously described, having been placed in this area.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

At San Vicente del Cristo, located twenty kilometers from Santiago and five kilometers from Porto Boniato, are a number of concrete reinforced tunnels which are utilized for the storage of food and armament.

Some fifteen or twenty kilometers from the U. S. Guantanamo Naval Base there are some secret Russian installations where no Cubans, not even members of the Communist Party, are permitted to enter.

At a place called Mango de Baragua, Oriente, near the Miranda Sugar Mill is located a motorized division called Division Fifty, which source described as the cream of the Cuban Army. He said this division is equipped with tanks, all kinds of artillery, and small rockets. He said that in the course of Hurricane Flora in 1963 roads into this area were destroyed, and the Cuban Government made frantic efforts to rebuild the roads immediately following the hurricane inasmuch as the division was completely immobilized because of the road destruction.

The source said no combat planes are stationed at the airport in Santiago. At Holguin, Oriente, is a large combat air base equipped with radar and anti-aircraft missiles and guns. The end of the runway at this base terminates at the side of a rather sizable mountain into which tunnels have been extended which serve as runways. Within the mountain is a system of tunnels and elevators which permit the storage of planes at such a deep level as to be bombproof. The source pointed out that this was not true of the entrance to the tunnels in the mountain and that several well-placed bombs at the entrance would effectively seal in all planes stored within the mountain.

According to the source, the Texaco Company gasoline refinery on the outskirts of Santiago, the Santiago airport, and a cement factory located in the vicinity of Santiago are all protected by antiaircraft installations. The cement factory also has a radar installation.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Anti-CASTRO Activities

The source said that in an area located between the towns of Guisa and Bueycito, Oriente, in a zone surrounding a mountain called Pinalito, a group of anti-CASTRO guerrilla fighters has been operating very effectively since March, 1964. He said no one knows who the members of the group are or who is backing them. Among other things they have burned a number of country stores throughout the area. On June 12, 1964, from about 5:00 to 7:00 p.m. this group engaged in combat with CASTRO forces and was successful in killing some thirteen of the latter. The thirteen were buried in the town of Guisa on Saturday, June 13, 1964.

In connection with the activities of this guerrilla group, sometime in May, 1964, the Cuban Government sent some fifteen bulldozers in the area to open up a road in order that tanks might be brought in for use against the guerrilla group. From a mechanic in Santiago the source learned that the drivers of these bulldozers immediately reported them as broken down and unserviceable. The mechanic found nothing wrong with the bulldozers, but did learn that the drivers were afraid to use them because of possible reprisals from the guerrilla group.

The source expressed the opinion that in Cuba are a large number of ex-military men who are ready and willing to take up arms against the CASTRO group, but said that some spark, such as an outside invasion, is needed to put these men into action. He estimated that probably 90% of the Cuban people are against CASTRO at the present time.

Transport

The source estimated that no more than one-fifth of the automobiles in service in Cuba at the time CASTRO came into power are now in an operable condition. He said one of the biggest problems in connection with replacement parts for these automobiles is the problem of tires.

There are quite a large number of trucks in Cuba which were supplied by the Soviet and satellite nations.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

These trucks are of such bad quality that they break down easily and in many cases there are no replacement parts for them. Russian buses sent to Cuba have had one very noticeable defect in that the cooling system for the motors of these buses is too small for the hot climate of Cuba and the motors heat up easily. Czechoslovakian buses are of better quality, but the rear axle is set too far forward for use on the curving Cuban highways and country roads. This defect frequently causes the buses to go off the roads on curves.

The rail system in Cuba is in very bad condition due to the fact that a large number of the locomotives are broken down and repair parts are not available. This has caused considerable difficulty in connection with the sugar cane harvest of 1964.

Miscellaneous

The source estimated that the 1964 sugar harvest would probably not be more than 3,500,000 tons of sugar, even lower than the 1963 harvest. He expects sugar production to continue to decrease due to the poor use of poor fertilizer and the cutting of the cane by persons unfamiliar with the proper process of cutting.

In closing the source mentioned that a number of Spaniards who were taken to Russia as children during the Spanish Civil War have been brought to Cuba to serve as interpreters. He said many of these Spaniards have indicated a desire to remain in Cuba even though the CASTRO government is overthrown. This desire apparently grows out of the more favorable climate in Cuba and the more comfortable way of life. Some Czechoslovakian doctors and technicians who have been brought to Cuba have also indicated a desire to remain there.

POLITICAL MATTER - CONFIDENTIAL

SOLIDARITY WITH PUERTO RICO WEEK MARKED

Havana Domestic Service in Spanish 1100 GMT 24 September 1964--F

(Excerpt) As part of the week of solidarity with Puerto Rico, a ceremony was held in the headquarters of the Cuban Institute of Friendship With Peoples, where a statement of solidarity with the Puerto Rican people's struggle for independence was signed. It was approved by all the organizations of foreigners living in Cuba, including Canadians and North Americans.

The document of solidarity was read by Puerto Rican journalist Carlos Padilla after brief speeches by Gustavo Mazzora of the ICAP and Nestor Colon, who represented the Puerto Rican independence movement. Also in the presidium of the ceremony were Eulogio Rodriguez from the UJC foreign relations committee, Dr. Juan Juarbe, and Senora Laure Meneses de Albizu Campo.

The document signed by all the Americans residing in Cuba declared that the North American Government is responsible for the fate of Puerto Rican leader Dr. Pedro Albizu Campos, and it demands his immediate and unconditional release and that of the other Puerto Rican patriots.

The document also declares that the United States, in its attempts to thwart the emergence of Puerto Rico as a free country, is preparing a new wave of repression against the national liberation movement. It alerts world opinion to the serious consequences which could arise from these plans of Yankee imperialism, the only one responsible for the situation of colonial subjection of the brother people of Puerto Rico.

Representing the Puerto Ricans living in Cuba were the children of Dr. Pedro Albizu Campos, Rosa Albizu Meneses and Dr. Pedro Albizu Meneses; Reynaldo Trillas, Armando Pena, and Luisa May, and Puerto Rican leader Dominga de la Cruz, survivor of the Ponce massacre perpetrated by the Yankees in Puerto Rico.

Dr. Alura Meneses de Albizu Campo received a letter signed by Dr. Antonio Barreras Martinez, president of the Cuban National Union of Judicial and Legal Officials, in which he reports that in extraordinary sessions held by that organization; it was agreed to support the struggle of the Puerto Rican people for their liberation. They also agreed to celebrate the 73d birthday of the Puerto Rican leader Dr. Pedro Albizu Campos, who has been a prisoner for more than a quarter-century.

CUBA

The law appeared in the Tuesday, 22 September issue of the OFFICIAL GAZETTE. In the same OFFICIAL GAZETTE appears a proclamation according to which the Socialist Republic of Czechoslovakia granted Cuba a credit of 20 million U.S. dollars which will draw interest of two percent annually. The credit will be used to cover the balance in favor of Czechoslovakia for the excess of delivery of Czechoslovak merchandise over the delivery of Cuban merchandise under their trade agreement, and other accounts payable by Cuba, which amount to 14.9 million dollars.

SAVINGS ACCOUNTS--The National Bank of Cuba reported that more than 1.6 million Cubans now have savings accounts, amounting to a total of 738 million dollars. The report added that the large number of savings accounts are due mainly to the active national savings campaign which was launched three years ago with the help of the Cuban mass organizations. The percentage of Cubans with savings accounts has gone up from five percent in 1961 to its present level of 23 percent. (Havana English Europe 2010 GMT 24 September 1964--E)

DELEGATION TO CPR--Heading the Cuban delegation which will attend the ceremonies for the anniversary of the foundation of the Chinese People's Republic, member of the PURS-C secretariat Isidora Malmierca left 24 September for Peking. Manuel Garcia Calero, Lopez (Penges--phonetic), and Alejandro Arias are in the delegation. (Text) (Havana Domestic Spanish 2200 GMT 24 September 1964--F)

HART RETURN--Cuban Education Minister Armando Hart and the president of the Science Academy, Capt. Antonio Nunez Jimenez, left Mexico for Cuba 23 September. Before taking the plane Hart told the press that he received much attention from the Mexican authorities. He stressed that he feels that his trip has been very advantageous and rich in useful experiences. Hart and Nunez Jimenez attended the ceremonies for the Mexican independence and the inauguration of important museums. (Text) (Havana Domestic Spanish 2200 GMT 23 September 1964--F)

MEXICAN DELEGATES--A group of Mexican delegates invited by our Revolutionary Government are touring our country. They are six professors and 19 students from the School of Economy of Sinaloa University in Michoacan. On their arrival in Las Villas, they were honored by professors and students of the Central University, with whom they exchanged opinions. Afterward they made a tour through the various departments of the university. Their tour concluded with a visit to recently-built pilot sugar central at the university. Re: Foreign Political Matters - Uruguay;
Foreign Political Matters - Cuba

During late July, August and early September, 1964, [redacted] reported increasing political activity in Uruguay surrounding the question of a diplomatic break by the country with Cuba. According to the source, members of the Uruguayan National Governing Council (UNGC) took either an indefinite or vacillating attitude toward this question. They were divided by their own political interests, as well as by the popular feeling, pro and con, among the Uruguayan populace. In the latter regard, the Communist and Socialist Parties, with their adherents and followers, comprised a minority but vociferous combination of leftist forces who continued to demonstrate and to campaign through their members and other propaganda media to advocate that Uruguay not adhere to the majority decision reached by the Organization of American States (OAS) in late July calling for a diplomatic rupture with Cuba by member countries. This campaign did not gain substantial support outside of the leftist groups previously mentioned, according to [redacted]

On Saturday, September 12, 1964, other disturbances occurred, with various bombs being thrown or exploded at different locations in Montevideo. Some of these were directed at residences and offices. Two bombs were placed under automobiles belonging to personnel of the Embassy of the United States, one of which subsequently exploded, after discovery.

[REDACTED] noted that on September 9, 1964, the Uruguayan Ministry of the Interior sought and obtained a search warrant for the University from a Uruguayan judge with the understanding that it would be used only if necessary in the course of subsequent events. This search warrant was never used, according to [REDACTED] b2 b7D

The source declared that as of September 13, 1964, the atmosphere in Montevideo continued rather tense and, in his opinion, further outbreaks could possibly occur.

THE CUBAN SITUATION

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

On September 22, 1964, a confidential source abroad who had recently been in Cuba furnished the following observations concerning the Cuban situation:

source that at a reception [redacted] in Havana informed [redacted] openly admitted that the U. S. blockade has hurt Cuba very badly.

In a conversation which the source had at another reception [REDACTED] the latter indicated a very strong interest on the part of the Cuban Government in having American tourists return to Cuba.

On one occasion while source was traveling by automobile [REDACTED] to turn off the main highway and proceed toward the coastal area in the northern part of the province. When the coastal area was reached, the source observed a large number of Russians playing volley ball.

[REDACTED] said that these Russians were technicians who were in that area to take care of missile installations in the near vicinity.

With regard to a raid made by a Cuban exile group on a radar site on the south coast of Cuba several weeks ago, source said there was a story prevalent in Havana to the effect that some 150 Russians stationed at the site did nothing to assist in repelling the raid and that on the day following the raid 50 Cubans who had been stationed at the site were executed for their failure to repulse the raid.

Source considered it interesting that one openly hears disgruntled comments in Havana concerning CASTRO and his government. Among persons making such comments were taxi drivers utilized by the source, barbers, and people on the street. Source was also told by these individuals that because of the Russian intervention in the affairs of Cuba the Cubans no longer consider it to be strictly a Cuban matter and feel that the United States should take a hand to remedy the current Cuban situation. Source had occasion to visit the resort area of Varadero Beach where FIDEL CASTRO maintains a house and observed some fourteen Cadillac automobiles at CASTRO's house, all apparently in very good operating condition. Source was told that CASTRO maintains some eight different houses in Havana and never spends two consecutive nights in the same house. This procedure is apparently followed to reduce the possibilities of an assassination attempt.

On one occasion source went to a motion picture theater [redacted] When CASTRO appeared in the showing of a news reel, only three people in the entire theater applauded. Source was told by [redacted] that he considered this an indication of the decline of CASTRO's popularity in that in times gone by CASTRO's appearance on the screen was the signal for large-scale applause by practically everybody in the theater. b7c/b

During the time that source was in Cuba it was observed that the poor people form long lines to obtain food. Source visited both department stores and so-called super markets and observed that very few items were for sale in either. On a visit to a ten-cent store source observed some very cheap-appearing drinking glasses and was told by the employee that a customer could buy only one of these glasses every six months. By comparison, source said it was observed that plenty of food is available on the black market for those who can afford to pay the exorbitant prices which are demanded for it. The government apparently takes no action to suppress the black market.

It is the opinion of many of the people with whom source spoke that the Russians will physically eliminate CASTRO when he is no longer of any use to them. An instance was cited to the source by [REDACTED] of a case in which a number of foreign ambassadors had intervened with CASTRO to save the life of a Cuban who was under sentence to be executed. CASTRO told these ambassadors that he would order the execution of this individual suspended, but the next day the individual was shot. This was interpreted as a sign that CASTRO is no longer able to give the orders in Cuba. b7c/D

Source said that many cars were observed both on the streets of Havana and on the highways outside of the city in a broken down condition which cannot be remedied due to lack of replacement parts. The buses sold by England to Cuba have been of tremendous assistance to the otherwise very badly damaged transportation system. Source said these buses are used not only for transporting passengers on regular bus routes, but are also utilized for the transportation of troops and other purposes. Since the receipt of the buses there has been a large amount of sabotage to the upholstery of the same.

In closing, source mentioned a rather humorous occurrence which happened during the visit to Cuba. A number of signs are posted in different parts of Havana which state, "El que no trabaja no come" (He who does not work does not eat). One morning it was observed that an addition had been made during the night to a number of these signs, "El que trabaja tampoco--Pepe" (Neither does he who does work - Joe).

FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA IS - CUBA

Reurlet and letterhead memorandum both dated 10-8-64.

A review of the data set forth in re letterhead memorandum indicates it would have been more appropriate to submit this data under the caption "Intelligence Matters - Cuba, IS - Cuba" (Bufile 65-63987-210). It also appears that information set forth in re letterhead memorandum would have been of interest to Miami, Tampa and Legat, Mexico City. Accordingly, copies should have been directed to these offices for information. Be guided by these observations in the future. The second word in paragraph 4, page 4 of re letterhead memorandum should read "principal." Advise if the word set forth as "Guerra" in line 3 of paragraph 4, page 4 is spelled correctly. Submit an amended page 4 of re letterhead memorandum, including in parenthesis a translation of the Spanish title of the book referred to in this paragraph.

Relet indicates the Bureau was to receive 20 copies of a photograph as enclosures. These photographs were not received at the Bureau. Advise and furnish these photographs promptly to the Bureau if not already done.

Only five copies of re letterhead memorandum were forwarded to the Bureau. Since this data concerns Latin-American matters, nine copies of the letterhead memorandum should have been submitted to the Bureau in accordance with existing instructions. In addition, it is apparent that the content of re letterhead memorandum calls for wide dissemination to interested agencies as well as to other Bureau files. In this regard, good judgment would dictate that more than nine copies of re letterhead memorandum should have been forwarded to the Bureau.

Score form errors to responsible personnel.

Dissemination of re letterhead memorandum is being withheld pending receipt of amended pages and photographs. Handle promptly.

Foreign Political Matters - Cuba

Reference memorandum dated October 6, 1964, captioned
"Foreign Political Matters - Cuba".

On October 2, 1964, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] furnished the following information concerning policies of the Ministry of Education in Cuba: (S)(u)

1. All teachers who taught prior to the inception of the Castro Government in Cuba are required to attend classes for a period of three years at the "Instituto Macareno", formerly the Catholic University of Villanyeva in Marianao, Cuba, where they are indoctrinated in Marxist-Leninist theory, and history of the Communist Party.

2. All new teachers who graduate from the "Instituto Macareno" are members of the Young Communist Union. At the institute they study the lives of Marx, Lenin and Engles, in addition to Marxist-Leninist theory and history of the Communist Party.

3. The above subjects are taught to Cuban children in grades 3-6 by means of lectures in order that political indoctrination be instituted before they are capable of reading, and in order that time not be lost in having to study text books on these subjects.

[REDACTED] also advised that a school of rocketry is operated by Russians somewhere in Oriente Province, Cuba.
Prerequisites for Cubans to study at the school are as follows:

1. Prospective students must be 16 years of age and must be in very good health.

2. Students must be members of the Young Communist Union and proven Communists.

3. Parents of the students must be Communist Party members.

Cuba discovered and became aware that the Chinese accusations against the Soviet Union were unfair and that they were not beyond words against American imperialism.

The Cuban Government decided that its bitter arguments within their ranks were splitting them and were having bad repercussions with the Soviet Union. The Chinese Embassy became brazenly partisan it was discovered.

Fidel Castro then made his speech of March 13th against outside propaganda and a message was drawn up advising that Cuba would not tolerate that type divisive activities.

FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, learned from a representative of a communist nation abroad that Cuba is changing its attitude toward Latin America and has stopped all subversive activities.

The source learned that most Latin American countries are trying to put the Cuban problem in the background, but by appointing its new Ambassador to Cuba, Mexico has shown that it does not wish to change its attitude. Brazil and other Latin American countries are dissatisfied in this regard but the United States is not pressing Mexico because it considers that it is useful to keep an open channel toward Cuba.

The source learned that Cuba has almost completely concentrated its attention on its internal problems and is gaining strength from both the economic and political point of view.

The source learned that recent statements by Fidel Castro tend to show that he is ready to compromise with the United States and therefore any action concerning the formation of a Cuban Government in exile is eliminated.

The Czech Embassy (CE), Washington, D. C., desired to establish a "Czech School" for the children of its functionaries and employees, and the CE wondered, to achieve this objective, if they might use the building which was the office of the Cuban Military Attache located at 2639 16th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. It was indicated that all expenses necessary to modify this structure would be assumed by the CE. Prime Minister Castro was requested to reply in the immediate future.

The informant had no additional information.

This memorandum contains no particularly significant information, but it is furnished by airtel to the Bureau, since there has been and will be publicity in connection with the arrival and defection of the 94 Cuban refugees in Miami. This is the largest group which has arrived by small boat in several months.

The matter of the defection or return to Cuba of either or both of the guards will be followed, and the final disposition of the case reported to the Bureau. It is noted they claimed to belong to the Policia Maritima and are not militiamen or members of the military. This maritime police has assigned to it the day and night patrolling of beaches and small isolated ports. Their reports go directly to the Ministry of Interior.

While patrolling a section of the beach at El Morillo, about midnight on July 6, 1965, the guards observed a group of women and children. They challenged them to halt, and were in turn accosted by a large group of Cuban men they had not previously seen in the dark. These men told the guards they would be killed if they did not drop their rifles.

After being put into the boats, and after having traveled about one hour from the coast of Cuba, a colored man offered the guards a raft in which they could return to Cuba. However, the guards were afraid of the sea and elected to remain as hostages.

Enclosed for Miami are copies of two memoranda furnished 8/6/65 by [REDACTED]
N. W., Wash., D. C., a public relations agent, to SA's [REDACTED] b7C and [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] advised that the enclosures were [REDACTED] and copies were furnished [REDACTED] on 8/2 or 3/65. [REDACTED] added that these memoranda were afforded wide distribution throughout the U. S. Govern- b7C ment (to which one of the memoranda will attest); [REDACTED] purpose in furnishing the memoranda to WFO was in keeping with his desire to "keep you up to date."

The information contained in the memoranda, therefore, is not being set forth in form suitable for dissemination, but is being furnished the office of origin for the completion of its files.

For the information of the Bureau and New York, one memorandum captioned "Formation of A Cuban Government In Exile" bases a desire for official U. S. recognition of an exile Cuban Government on the absence of any Cuban representation in the OAS. The second memorandum develops on the need for a recognized Cuban Government in exile based in the U. S., and reveals the progress in its establishment by noting the circulation of the first memorandum among U. S. Congressmen.

Re: Foreign Political Matters - Cuba

The August 10, 1965 edition of "The Reporter Dispatch", a daily newspaper published in Westchester County, New York, on page 1, contained an article datelined White Plains, New York, with a by-line of BILL Richards, which article in substance read as follows:

The article was captioned "Cuban Gang Pillaging In County". Richards, in the article, related that [REDACTED] had said that a gang of skilled thieves, who were trained in Cuba, had been filtering into the New York City area for the past 16 months. Richards attributed to [REDACTED] a statement that profits from these illegal ventures, which included burglary, narcotics and prostitution, were channelled back into Cuba to bolster the Castro economy. [REDACTED] according to the article, claimed that at least eight men and women, alleged members of the gang, had been arrested in Yonkers during the past year and that the thieves had been trained outside of the United States in lock-picking and other burglary techniques and then were planted among Cuban refugees arriving in this country from Cuba. b7C

The article further related that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and police from other Westchester communities and Nassau County had been notified of the findings and were striving to stop the ring's activities. According to the article, the Yonkers area had been plagued by numerous recent burglaries and the Yonkers Police had developed "solid information" that the blame for this increase in burglaries was due to "a considerable force of Cuban burglars".

The article stated further that "one undercover source put the number of Castro agents slipping in under the refugee guise as high as ten per cent of the total number of Cubans in the area".

Since all of the leaders of the Cuban government are members of the PURSC, almost all of the activities engaged in by the Cuban government are reported under the caption of the PURSC. It becomes increasingly difficult to distinguish between activities of PURSC and the official actions of the Cuban government.

It will be noted that the information concerning the closing of the PRENSA LATINA office in Algiers is particularly significant. The Bureau will recall, that even prior to the closing of the Legat's Office in Havana, Cuba, PRENSA LATINA was known to be financed by the Cuban government, and was practically nothing more than a propaganda machine. This must be apparent to other nations

"YANKEE ESPIONAGE IN LATIN AMERICA"

[REDACTED], stated on August 26, 1965, that Radio Progreso, Havana radio station, had broadcast on June 30, 1965, that there is an American espionage plan called "Camelot," aimed at overthrowing civilian governments in Latin America and replacing them with military dictatorships. The existence of this plan has allegedly been tacitly recognized by the U.S. State Department and the Pentagon. The broadcast stated that Uruguay, Colombia, Argentina, Peru, Venezuela and Chile are special targets of the Yankee espionage plan. b2 b7D

On July 26, 1965, [REDACTED] made available a broadcast of CMQ, Havana radio station, of July 1, 1965 which stated that Democratic Senator McCARTHY had requested the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to investigate the Yankee espionage plan "Camelot." [REDACTED] stated the Cuban press and radio frequently make reference to "Operation Camelot" and Camelot "espionage plan." b2 b7D

He stated on August 2, 1965, that the Havana daily newspaper HOY, self-described as the official organ of the Cuban Communist Party, published an article dated Santiago, Chile, June 26, 1965, stating that Operation Camelot had provoked a protest by the Chilean government to Yankee Ambassador RALPH DUNGAN. The writer of this article was CARLOS ~~TURQUERA~~ of PRENSA LATINA. It is noted that PRENSA LATINA is a Cuban news service.

On August 3, 1965, [REDACTED] stated HOY on July 7, 1965, gave space to an article prepared by Chilean Deputy PATRICIO ~~HURTADO~~, who expressed his disapproval of Yankee espionage plan Camelot, and suggested that government officials should "declare this plan persona non grata in Chile." b2, b7D

ALGIERS CLOSES PRENSA LATINA

On August 3, 1965, [REDACTED] stated that HOY of July 1, 1965, took note of the fact that PRENSA LATINA agency in Algiers was closed by official order. HOY attributed the closing to the insertion of a text of a speech given by Cuban Prime Minister FIDEL CASTRO in the daily news bulletin the previous Sunday in Algiers, and further stated the agency was accused of circulating leaflets in the streets, containing fragments of a speech by FIDEL CASTRO, commenting on Cuba's position towards [REDACTED] b2, b7D

CUBAN INTERVENTION IN LATIN AMERICA

[REDACTED] on July 30, 1965, stated that REVOLUCION, a daily Cuban newspaper, formerly self-described as the official organ of the July 26th Movement and regarded as the voice of FIDEL CASTRO, on June 22, 1965, published a PRENSA LATINA article from Lima, Peru, alleging that guerrilla forces had captured the Chief of the government troops in the central region and an undetermined number of his agents.

b2, b7D

The July 26 Movement is a revolutionary organization founded and led by FIDEL CASTRO, the present Prime Minister of Cuba. It was dissolved during late 1962 when it was absorbed into the integrated Revolutionary Organization in Cuba, along with the Communist Party of Cuba, and the other principal political parties.

ReRiolet 6/25/65.

Since date of reflet sources have again advised that the Cubans still have not been able to mount any political activities in Brazil and that there is no evidence that they have tried. Brazil does not maintain diplomatic relations with Cuba and the strictly anti-communist attitude of the CASTELO BRANCO government has kept communist activities at an almost nonexistent point.

Sources have been requested to remain alert for any Cuban activities either directly or through local Brazilian communists and fronts.

The Bureau will be advised of any pertinent developments.

furnished some observations concerning current conditions inside Cuba. [REDACTED] noted that the conflict in Vietnam has noticeably added to the unrest of the Cuban people. The obvious preoccupation of the United States with the Vietnam crisis has allowed the people to see through Castro's claim that "Yankee imperialism" is solely responsible for the deteriorating economic and social conditions and they now realize Castro's regime is actually responsible for the shortcomings. The lack of competent technicians and the general incompetence of maintenance personnel remaining in Cuba have combined to bring economic conditions to their lowest ebb.

Consumer goods are in extremely short supply and, upon arrival from communist countries, are quickly commandeered by Cuban Government officials. Communist China, in particular, is sending Cuba novelties and trinkets which clutter up the stores but do not sell as the people are desperate for useful consumer goods. It is believed that the mass of Cuban people definitely want United States influence back in Cuba if Castro could be removed from power and it is noted there is a strong tendency on the part of the Cuban people to reject communist goods and machinery simply because they are unfamiliar items. For example, [REDACTED] noted that a high-ranking Soviet-bloc official had indicated his country is able to use Soviet farm tractors for eight to ten years while the same tractors only seem to last one year in Cuba because of improper maintenance.

POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] most interesting observations is that the war in Vietnam is actually stepping up the tempo of unrest inside Cuba since Fidel Castro can no longer turn full attention of the people to "Yankee imperialism" and thereby cover up the many economic and social ills of his regime. In other words, the deployment of United States troops and resources to Vietnam has taken away from Castro his chief crutch which he had used to build up the people's resentment against the United States. Thus, the Cuban people are beginning to realize against that the basic commodities which they traditionally received from the United States are still missing and they continue to strongly reject goods originating in communist countries, simply because they are unfamiliar with them.

Economic conditions were described as being at their lowest ebb and probably will deteriorate further as competent technical personnel to keep machinery and equipment in running order are just not available. While Cuba desperately needs staple consumer goods, it is very noticeable that the shipments from Red China are for the most part novelties and trinkets which merely clutter up the stores and have no appeal to the people. One high-ranking communist bloc official told the Ambassador that Soviet farm tractors such as are in use in Cuba are good for it.

The Ambassador is of the opinion that, should Fidel Castro be removed from power, the mass of the Cuban people would definitely want to again side with the United States as opposed to any European or Asiatic influence. He believes the number of Soviet-bloc officials and technicians in Cuba has diminished, partially due to Soviet frustration with the Castro administration and the temperament of the Cuban people. Re: Cuban Situation

On August 25, 1965, a confidential source, [REDACTED] who is in a position to furnish general information concerning conditions in present-day Cuba, advised as follows: (u) b7D

Economic conditions in Cuba at the present time are at their lowest ebb and continue to deteriorate. The source stated transportation, communications and housing are generally in a state of bad repair as a result of the mass exodus from Cuba over the years of competent technical personnel and the general lack of know-how on the part of those people remaining in Cuba. As an example, the source pointed out that the British buses shipped to Cuba about two years ago are gradually breaking down and that there is a lack of knowledge on the part of Cuban transportation maintenance employees concerning the repair of these buses, even though repair parts were shipped along with the buses.

Concerning the above, the source advised that the same general condition prevails with machinery and industrial equipment shipped to Cuba from other Communist countries, such as Soviet Russia, Red China and Czechoslovakia.

Consumer goods are in extremely short supply and those goods arriving from Communist countries are quickly commandeered by officials of the Castro Government. In this connection, consumer goods shipped from Red China are for the most part soft goods such as novelties and trinkets, rather than hard, useful consumer goods which the Cuban people desperately need. In addition, money is scarce in Cuba and such Chinese novelty items clutter up stores and do not sell. They appear to be in evidence for purely propaganda purposes.

Concerning the present political climate in Cuba, the source advised that since the current war in Vietnam monopolizes the headlines throughout the world, Cuba has been displaced as a point of focal interest in world news. This has given rise to a noticeable degree of open voicing of unrest on the part of the average man in Cuba, who is discontent with the regime. The source opined that Fidel Castro has successfully been able to arouse the people of Cuba into supporting him by keeping in the forefront the idea of "Yankee imperialism". However, in the face of deteriorating conditions, coupled with the Vietnam situation monopolizing the news, it is proving increasingly difficult for the Castro regime to sell the idea of "Yankee imperialism".

In connection with the above, the source stated that since the Cuban economy has been traditionally intrinsically linked to the North American economy, the Cuban people naturally looked toward the United States for those basic commodities of life which they no longer have. There is a strong tendency on the part of the Cuban people to reject goods shipped from Communist countries simply because they are unfamiliar with them. As an example of this, the source cited conversations with a high-ranking Communist Bloc country official concerning farm tractors of Soviet make. The Communist official noted that such tractors served usefully for eight to ten years in his country and functioned only for a year in Cuba due to the inability of the Cuban people to run and maintain them properly.

The source offered a general political observation concerning the present situation in Cuba, stating that if Fidel Castro were removed from power tomorrow, a vacuum would exist which the mass of the Cuban people would automatically want filled by United States influence rather than European or Asiatic influence. Notwithstanding this, the present political administration in Cuba, such as it is, is closely linked to Russia, and the Soviet administrative political influence is strong. The source advised he had no way of accurately estimating the precise number of Communist Bloc officials and technicians presently in Cuba, but believes the number has diminished in the last year. This he attributes to frustration on the part of the Soviets with the Castro administration and the general temperament of the Cuban people.

The source could furnish no pertinent data concerning Soviet military installations in Cuba, but was of the general opinion that only antiaircraft missiles of Soviet origin exist in present-day Cuba.

FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

DECLASSIFIED BY AUC 60309 TAM/DCG/JW
ON 5/24/06

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, learned the following from a representative of a communist nation in Havana:

[REDACTED] b7C
[REDACTED] the non-aligned nations and the socialist countries must play a greater role at the next session of the General Assembly of the United Nations but he personally does not believe that the session will be a success.

Concerning the Inter-American Conference, he believes that the United States has been defeated for the first time and rather seriously in connection with its intervention in the Dominican Republic. The United States did not expect the Latin American countries to react by smoothing out their differences.

[REDACTED] b7C
[REDACTED] the present position of Chile is important to Cuba and he learned that the President of Chile, while in Paris, had stated that Cuba has played an important role in the social processes which are taking place in Latin America. The opinion was also expressed that the establishment of relations with Cuba is necessary.

The President of Chile advised the Cuban Ambassador in Paris that he was sorry that Chile and Cuba had broken relations but added that he was not responsible for the break.

newspapers and on the Cuban radio. This source further stated that official Cuban newspapers and radio continuously report meetings, visits, and other matters, showing that Cuba sympathizes with the North Vietnamese, and CASTRO has openly announced that he is willing to send troops to help the North Vietnamese, if requested by the North Vietnamese Government.

Alleged Arrest of CIA Agents

[REDACTED] stated on September 1, 1965, that "Hoy", self-described as the official organ of the Cuban Communist Party, on August 11, 1965, stated that the Revolutionary Tribunal of Havana meted out the maximum penalty for "three CIA Agents" who were part of an espionage ring organized by CIA to commit sabotage on Cuban merchant ships. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] These men were reportedly recruited in European ports by a CIA Agent named [REDACTED].

[REDACTED] stated on August 27, 1965, that newspapers and radios in Cuba continue to announce items indicating the friendship of Mexico for Cuba, and especially friendship on the part of the Mexican Ambassador, General FERNANDO PAMANES ESCOBEDO.

A reception was held at the Cuban - Mexican Friendship Building in honor of the celebration of the July 26th in Cuba [REDACTED]

He stated that in some key Embassy, the First Secretary might also be a G-2 agent and in the case of Mexico, "CASTRO keeps an intelligence team there". He stated Mexico is considered a key country in dealing with Western Hemisphere Communist agents.

[REDACTED] and who maintains contact with some sources in Cuba, advised on September 13, 1965, that the Cuban Government continues to maintain ever-increasing pressure on all Cubans through their Security Police [REDACTED]

From a letter just received from a relative in Cuba, [REDACTED] stated he learned that many arrests have been made at the Cuban Electricity Company. He stated that the police delve into every facet of family life and nothing can be considered a private or personal matter in Cuba. He stated that in the words of the letter he received, the police have so many informants "that if one belches, they immediately want to know what you ate, where you bought it, how much you paid for it, and if you bought it on the black market".

The source of [REDACTED] further stated that FIDEL CASTRO continues to challenge the democracies, and America in particular, apparently attempting to see just how far he can go without reprisal. He has stated that all of the countries of Latin America are burning with a desire to see "Tio Sam" (Uncle Sam) buried. He stated Cuba is constantly warning all the rest of Latin America about the "claws" of capitalism and slavery under North American deceit and imperialistic action.

On 9/30/65, Liaison Agent [REDACTED]

received a call from [REDACTED] Office of the Coordinator of Cuban Affairs, State. [REDACTED] said that as a result of the recent speech by Fidel Castro in which he said that anticommunist Cubans would be allowed to leave Cuba, the State Department is preparing a memorandum for the President.

[REDACTED] said that the State memorandum to the President will include a statement that the possibility of Castro using refugees as agents in the U. S. is a constant concern; that there is evidence attempts to utilize this channel have been made; and that the possibility exists that increased efforts might be expected should a special arrangement be made to bring to the U.S. close relatives of Cuban refugees. The memorandum continues by saying that this would be carefully watched but in the opinion of the Department of State, the humanitarian aspects of the problem (of reuniting families) would outweigh the subversive threat.

[REDACTED] said he wanted the Bureau to know of the State Department's thinking on this matter and that State will probably propose allowing separated husbands, wives, and children to be reunited. He indicated that the U. S. doors will not be thrown open to reuniting relatives such as cousins.

On October 9, 1965

[REDACTED]

On October 12, 1965, [REDACTED] Federal Aviation Agency, Communications Control Section, Kennedy Airport, New York, advised that his office received a request for clearance for a Russian IL 18 Aircraft, Number 75560 or possibly 75562, to land at Kennedy International Airport on October 15, 1965. The aircraft's flight plan calls for departure from Moscow on October 15, 1965, arrival at Kennedy Airport on that same date and departure for Havana from Kennedy Airport at 10:00 a.m. on October 19, 1965. This flight, according to Stroebling, has been approved by the United States Department of State.

[REDACTED] further stated that a request for a return, Havana to Kennedy Airport to Moscow, USSR, has been requested, but not as yet approved.

FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

On July 19, 1965, a confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past furnished to Special Agents of the FBI two letters in the Spanish language, which he received from a friend in Cuba, who utilized the pseudonym [REDACTED]. These letters were translated into English and included the following information:

In a letter dated June 6, 1965, from Havana, Cuba, [REDACTED] said that in Cuba hope for a better life is diminishing. He said that the situation in the Dominican Republic represented hope for a time, but nothing good developed for the Cubans as a result. He said the Dominican problem became Thomas Mann's pretext to unify the Latin American forces and that the "CIA was there preparing the farce for the world to swallow".

FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

[REDACTED]
prefers "Castro's democracy seasoned in Moscow with food in small doses and words in quarantine". After telling about [REDACTED] said, "I believe that the above is enough for you to have an idea about this new publicity angle of the Party and its representatives." b7c/d

[REDACTED] said the television interview did not elicit the comments that were hoped for and that on the following day people talked more of the scarcity of butter than the interview with the woman who had deserted the ranks of American exiles.

[REDACTED] continues that, "For the rest, nothing has altered the measured rhythm of our beautiful island. Once in a while, the leader addresses his illustrious word to the mass of the people without any importance. The same foolish speeches as always. However, it is clear that the guerrilla leader has not given up his boasting and threats. He diligently lavishes them upon us at every program, like a new Caesar in the waters of the Caribbean."

[REDACTED] said that nothing was known for sure about the "Argentine adventurer" (Che Guevara) and that nothing was known about Joaquin Ordoqui, who was discharged from all of his duties on November 18, 1964, by the Proconsul of Cuba.

[REDACTED] comments on living conditions in Cuba, "As you see, there is not much to say - time keeps passing. We are not hurrying it. The amount of food has decreased fairly much. There is meat in hardly any restaurant. The black 'taboo' is giving more and more people ulcers. The worst thing now is that people have hooked tapeworms gnawing at their intestines. The creatures are half-crazy. You have to see it to believe it! Medicine is also scarce. Already there is no chlorothiazide for hypertension. Medicines almost shine because there are so few of them. I say almost, because there are still some, especially in the hospital. Vegetables are going from bad to worse. In the final analysis, Communism has become scarcity, indigence, and hunger. The triumph of socialism in almost seven years, because socialism is hunger."

FOREIGN POLITICAL MATTERS - CUBA

At present the leader and his footmen are shouting about the greatness of six million tons of rubbish. If you could hear the plans for the future, you would faint! The expectations of the 'acolytes of Marxism' are tremendous. The 'thurifers' have changed to fawning over the leader; they do not have enough words to praise him."

[REDACTED]

In another letter dated April 25, 1965, [REDACTED] speaks of people in Cuba who have received the heritage transmitted byLenin. "We have lost everything. Rather than exchanging good for evil, we have exchanged everying for nothing. This is what they boastfully call 'PROGRESS.' They want to revive the monarchy under another name - the dungeon and the clan with the symbol of the hammer and sickle."

b7c/D

[REDACTED] speaks of the disappearance of Che Guevara and said, "They used the classic method of putting him out of the public eye. In addition, during a press interview with a foreign correspondent, the leader of the Communists barked that Che was in the place where he would best serve the revolution, and the relations that he had with him - he was referring to Guevara - continued to be the same as when he knew him, etc., etc. Here the guesses of the informed people and the serious men come into play, and some say he is in Moscow, others in Czechoslovakia, and the most daring ones, in an embassy as a forced guest, which means an exile. As you see, each to his own taste. He who cannot accustom himself to one situation can grab another or a third. Essentially, there has been little change. The same country which is still familiar to you. Food provisions as scarce as always. Now no one has any excess fat, but we have idealistic discussions on a better life, better for the leaders, that is. They cut off condensed milk for adults, but later they gave it to them."

[REDACTED] has not been recontacted with regard to the July 26th celebration on July 26, 1965.

It should be noted that the agent who has been attempting to develop [REDACTED] has been on extended sick leave due to emergency surgery. b7c b7D

Efforts were made to discreetly contact [REDACTED] by another agent on a road trip to Veracruz on October 19 and 20, 1965. It was determined at this time that [REDACTED] was not in Veracruz. b2 b7D

No further efforts are being made at this time to contact [REDACTED] until the agent who is personally acquainted with him returns to duty, which should be in mid-November 1965.

The Bureau will be advised of pertinent developments as soon as it is practical to discreetly contact [REDACTED]

This matter will be followed under caption of this letter, and Mexico City File 109-187, captioned CUBAN SITUATION, IS - CUBA, which was previously utilized, is being placed in a closed status.

SUMMARY FROM SPANISH

"CUBA"

June, 1965

"Havana - Miami - Havana"

Pages 28-33

By Dario Carmona

"Marta Alicia Gonzalez left Cuba in 1962 and fled to Miami. She lived as a "refugee" on a refugee check. She knew the humiliation, the anguish and the hunger of a "parolee." After becoming reacclimated, she was working at Harvard University and eating every day when she began to think: On August 11, 1964, she arrived at the airport in Havana. She wrote "Bajo palabra," the story of 28 months of exile, which is selling madly: 110,000 copies and lines waiting to get it. Now Marta Gonzalez reveals to CUBA her impressions of her dramatic return and reunification with her native land and with her son. She relates things which do not appear in her book."

The author, Dario Carmona, describes Marta Gonzalez as "interesting" and strong, but not with a strength which clouds her sensitivity and understanding. In her he sees a mixture of the "Cuban incapacity for hatred" and the "Spanish fortitude." Now thirty-two years old, she grew up in Havana, and since her father, Diego Gonzalez Gutierrez, was Dean of the School of Education at the University of Havana, she went without very little. Marta studied under Dominican monks, at Ruston Academy (North American school in Havana) and at the University of Havana. The article relates her story as follows:

Marta Gonzalez left Cuba on April 23, 1962, and arrived in Miami. She received her refugee check with which she gathered $60 a month, and she set out to partake of the American way of life. She settled on Flagler Street in Miami among the anti-Communists who were also "against Castro's communism." Marta soon recognized the true situation for the Cuban refugees, as she stood in line to collect a meager allotment of food parcels from the Department of Agriculture - Surplus Food" and mingled among persons who were dreaming of returning to Cuba and who were being used as "propaganda material."

Marta moved to Boston, where she, with her educational background, found new opportunity. She obtained a position in the Central Library of Harvard University at a salary of $250. In Boston, Marta rediscovered that sense of dignity which had disintegrated in Florida. Amid these enviable conditions, Marta began to think, and the result was her decision to return to Cuba. "I returned first from within," she said. "I did not resolve to return until I knew inside that I could not sincerely immerse myself in this life."

Since Marta was a Cuban refugee, "on parole" in a sense, it was not easy for her to leave the United States. In fact, it seemed impossible at first. However, she learned of a new regulation (Formula I-512) which allowed Cubans to be out of the country for 10 days. Marta requested to go to Canada, and after an 11-month wait, permission was granted, and on July 30, 1964, she left Boston for Canada without a passport. From Montreal, Marta flew to Paris on August 3, and she felt closer to Cuba all the time. As she put it, Paris was "nearer to Cuba than Miami which is officially only 90 miles away."

Marta arrived in Havana on August 11. She had told no one that she was returning. Arrangements had been made for her son to leave Cuba, and she could only hope that he had not left while she was returning.

Marta's feelings were mixed when she arrived in Havana. For one thing, she had thought that by "toning down" the propaganda in the United States, she had arrived at at least an approximation of the truth. But now she realized that this was not so, that it was all a lie. She enjoyed a feeling of relief and serenity, the serenity of having awoke from a nightmare. On the other hand, she felt as if she had secretly and illegally entered Cuba. She also knew that there would be many who would disagree with her -- those uninformed persons who were against the Revolution. But Marta was greeted with the utmost congeniality and was encouraged to speak out on anything she wished.

And she did want to speak out -- not about her reactions upon returning to Cuba, but about the reasons which compelled her to come back. Marta gathered the impressions and recollections of her experience into what is now a best seller. ~~"State palabra"~~ ~~(On Parole)~~ is just as Marta wrote; not a line was changed. Renee Mendez CAPOTE

Capote has described the book as "a cannon shot... so charged with objectivity, truth, bravery, grief and sorrow that it cannot help but resound like an explosion in the night of awareness."

For the Cuban readers, "On Parole" is an account of the life of those who flee and a startling insight into just what goes on those 90 miles away. Those who are on the "waiting list" would prefer that the book had never been written, because the doubt which it creates is a nightmare for them. The author tells what awaits them, and she draws such a vivid picture that its truth cannot be denied.

In the United States, the Cuban refugee is, in effect, "the man without a country." He has left Cuba behind, and he has assumed an existence which is less than life. He is no longer a human being, but a vegetable. He is "on parole" indefinitely, never certain when the authorities, for one reason or another, will send him to jail or deport him.

The description of specific conditions lends support to Marta's proposals. The refugee check, for example, is a constant reminder of the Cuban's status. On every item which it gets for him is imprinted "Gift of the American people." Because the United States gives him $8.50 worth of food a month (and it is surplus food at that), the Cuban refugee is expected to be impressed with the American generosity and to pledge his undivided loyalty to the American Government. However, the only generosity is among those who have -- the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. While the poor go hungry, the rich enjoy dinner at Coral Gables or West Palm Beach.

Americans boast of liberty of expression, but this is no more than a platitude. The FBI is always there, watching and directing every action. The Cuban refugee realizes too late that Castro was right -- the Americans control his life.

One of Marta's most striking accounts is of the Cuban children in the United States. For example one woman has two sons, three and six years old. The older one speaks a hesitant Spanish, the younger speaks only English, and the mother speaks only Spanish. The six-year-old has to interpret between his mother and his younger brother. Very similar is the situation in which parents send their children alone to the United States so that they will be "out of Castro's reach." They plan to rejoin their children eventually and to resume things just as they were, but these parents do not realize the extent and effect of the American propaganda, which twists the children's recollections of Cuba and their ideas of what Cuba represents. Another frightful picture is of defenseless, disowned children looking in vain to one another for parental love and guidance. Any adult is cried to as "mama" or "papa" -- they forget the faces of those they love.

Another fact which many would prefer to not know is that only two out of every three ever arrive in Florida. Those who believe whatever anyone tells them rush ahead blindly into a darkness, in search of a light which they never find.

The plight of Cuban doctors is an example of the conditions which all Cuban professionals encounter. The American Medical Association (AMA) jealously guards its members, and the examinations for all outsiders are unreasonably more difficult.

Seven other Cubans arrived in Boston with Marta. What are they doing now? Perhaps they are making beds in a hotel or washing dishes in a restaurant; cooking in an asylum or washing toilets on a military base. Perhaps they, too, are beginning to think.

GDR-CUBAN GROUP TO STUDY U.S. MONOPOLIES

Havana PRENSA LATINA in Spanish 1623 GMT 16 November 1965--E (FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY)

(Text) Havana--In accordance with the scientific agreement between the academies of science of the GDR and Cuba, a research group has been formed under the direction of Dr. Julio de Riverand and Professor Jurgen Kuczynski to carry out joint research in the files of the former U.S. monopolistic enterprises which formerly operated in Cuba. The results of this research will be published in the form of articles and books.

However, the newspaper GRANMA announces that some items of special interest will be published in its pages for the public. These works will carry the signature: "Cuban-German Group for Historic and Economic Research." In today's issue GRANMA publishes the first of these items. The text follows:

"Standard Oil of New Jersey (ESSO) had a refinery in Havana which supplied gasoline for the planes of Batista's air force. Among the company's financial forecasts documents, containing plans for prices, production, sales, and so forth, up to 1966, there is one dated 26 November 1958 which says: 'The greatest number of flights in 1958 were flown by the F-47 and the B-26 in the province of Oriente in support of military operations, as it to be deduced from the increase of barrels over the 1957 consumption. As we previously established, we foresee a substantial demand for gasoline for the air force in the coming years, since the piston aviation motor will continue to be used in the air transport units and in fighters and bombers for economy reasons. As of this date the air force has brought 20 Hawker Furies (and) Bristol Centurions from the British Government.'

"This means that five weeks before the final victory of the Cuban people, under the leadership of Fidel Castro, over Batista and U.S. imperialism, the Rockefeller monopoly, the Standard Oil Company expected that the struggle would continue for several years and that the company would profit with increased sales of gasoline. "Such is the fate of monopolistic forecasts. "Cuban-German Group for Historic and Economic Research."

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT

Memorandum

TO : DIRECTOR, FBI

DATE: 11/30/65

FROM : LEGAT, BUENOS AIRES (109-5)(P)

SUBJECT: CUBAN POLITICAL ACTIVITIES
FPM - CUBA

ReBuelet 9/28/65.

Recontact with sources in Argentina and Uruguay since relet have disclosed no specific details re Cuban Political Activities in Argentina or Uruguay. Sources have reported that the Communist Parties of both countries, as well as left wing groups, continue to support the present Cuban regime in their propaganda and other activities.

Speculation as to the whereabouts of ERNESTO (CHE) GUEVARA exists in both Uruguay and Argentina. Sources have been unable to pin down any definite information as to GUEVARA's fate. However, the majority opinion of contacts of this office is that GUEVARA is probably dead.
